LOS ANGELES · LIVE COVERAGE

OUR MISSION

The only light we know of.

Nightlife Report exists to keep it burning: together here first, then among the stars.

Look up tonight. There are billions of stars, and by the odds, worlds like ours should be common. Yet we listen, and the sky stays silent. As far as we can

THE JOB

You front the story. Then you build what ships it.

Nightlife Report is an independent Los Angeles publication covering red carpets, fashion and nightlife. We want one person who can do both halves of modern media: stand in front of the lens at live events, and write the code that turns raw footage into finished posts.

- Learn the craft. Interviewing, segment writing, lighting and sound on real event nights.
- Shoot top-grade video in 16:9 at 1080p or better, with your name on every segment.
- Edit it afterward and publish it to the blog, YouTube and Instagram.
- Build the pipeline in Python or JavaScript: captions, clipping, publishing, analytics.

Role summary from Nightlife Report job post (JOB-POST.md, Oct 31, 2026).

WHAT YOU'LL COVER

Everything that drives the city after dark.

01

Nightclubs and bars. Openings, door policies, the people behind the rooms.

02

Restaurants and venues. The dining rooms where the night starts.

03

Mansion parties and job parties. Private events, launches and industry mixers, covered with permission.

04

Red carpets and fashion. Premieres, shows and the looks that travel.

05

The night sky. Astronomy stories: meteor showers, eclipses, the best dark-sky spots near LA.

06

The economy of night. Promoters, staff, owners: who makes the city run after six.

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

What you get.

Paid from day one. Twenty-two to thirty dollars an hour, set by experience.

Part-time and flexible. About ten to fifteen hours a week, built around class.

A real portfolio. Published on-camera segments and shipped code with your name on both.

Access. Event nights, red carpets and venues across Los Angeles.

Two careers at once. On-camera reps plus engineering experience you can show any employer.

Mentorship. Work directly with the founder, Anthony Perlas, on every story.

Pay and hours: Nightlife Report RATES.md and JOB-POST.md, Oct 31, 2026.

THE NUMBERS

Four cities. Hundreds of billions after dark.

35.1B

New York. Nightlife's total economic output, 299,000 jobs and 25,000 venues (city study, 2016 data).[1]

80.9B

Las Vegas. Total tourism output in 2025 from 38.5 million visitors spending 50.8 billion dollars.[2]

42.6B

Los Angeles. Business sales from 49.5 million visitors in 2025, supporting more than 530,000 jobs.[3]

32.2B

Miami. Total tourism impact in 2025 from 28.3 million visitors spending 22.7 billion dollars.[4]

Figures are in dollars. New York measures nightlife (6 PM to 6 AM); the other three measure all visitor spending, which includes nightlife.

FASHION CAPITALS

The top five fashion cities.

Global Language Monitor's most recent published ranking (2020) of global fashion capitals:

1 New York

2 London

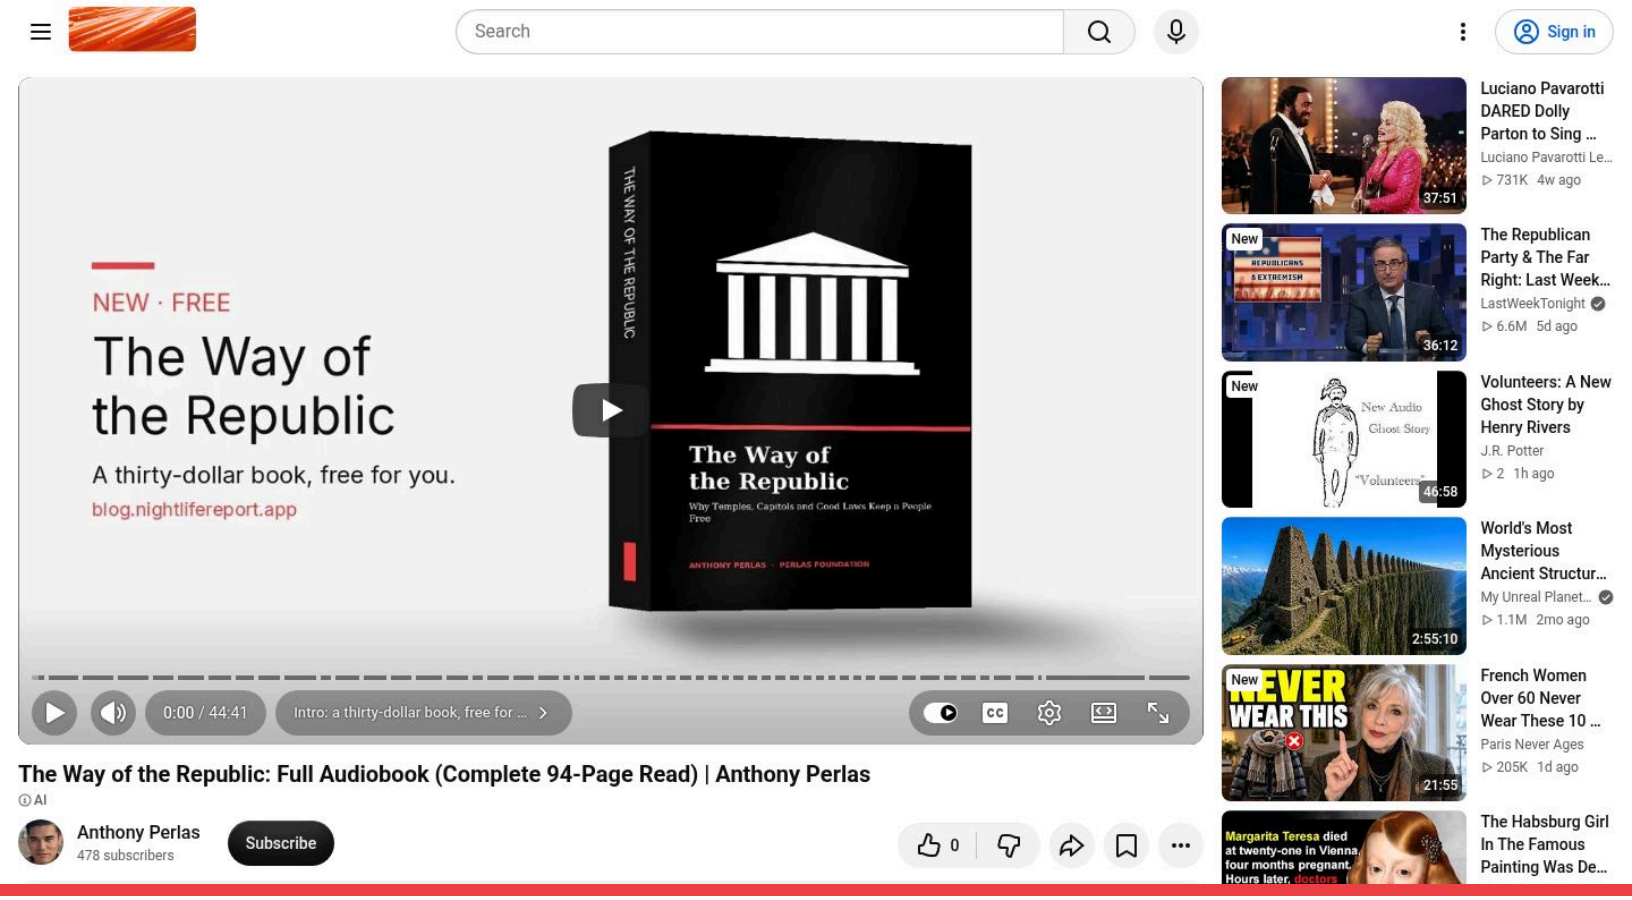

3 Paris

4 Milan

5 Tokyo

Los Angeles ranked seventh and Las Vegas ninth on the same list. New York was also named top fashion capital of the decade, 2010 to 2019.[5,6] Our anchor covers the city that sits on that list, and the runway looks that land in its clubs.
